CARNE SA

70 KEEROM STREET, CBD

021 424 3460, www.carne-sa.com

The meatiest of well-known chef Giorgio Nava's offerings, Carne SA is a carnivore's dream. From antipasti through to secondi, it's carpaccio, grass-fed beef, Karoo lamb and game as far as the eye can see. Carne's popularity has seen another two branches opening, in Kloof Street and Constantia.

CHALK & CORK

51 KLOOF STREET, GARDENS

021 422 5822, www.chalkandcork.co.za

Set in a lovely little two-storey haven on bustling Kloof Street, this eatery serves tapas and delicious Italian-inspired mains alongside a diverse wine list. Pick a table in the tree-lined outdoor area for brunch or private room upstairs for parties.

DEL MAR

SHOP 104, THE PROMENADE, CAMPS BAY

021 437 0333

With the same owner as Bukhara and Haiku, two of Cape Town's best Indian and Japanese restaurants respectively, you can bet this Mexican newcomer will be up to scratch. Start with traditional Mexican streetfood (the pancitas de puerro melt in your mouth), then move on to mains such as barbacoa (slow roasted lamb served with mini tortillas) and pestado al pipian verde (sea bass with green pumpkin seeds). Don't even think about leaving before a serving of churros with leche de leche.

DEN ANKER

boiled egg, in the canteen-style dining area above sister restaurant Lefty's. Wash down the deliciousness with a Japanese Sapporo beer or flask of sake.

EASTERN FOOD BAZAAR

96 LONGMARKET STREET, CBD

021 461 2458, www.easternfoodbazaar.co.za

Eastern Food Bazaar isn't the city's most glamorous dining destination, but it more than makes up for that in flavour. Warm, spicy aromas from around Asia greet you as you enter the tunnel of takeaway kiosks. Whether you fancy curry, shawarma, dosa, falafel, kebabs, samosas or tandoori, you'll find it in well-priced, heaped portions.
